REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

The road to victory is as often through rugged steeps as over gentle plains, and our common school system often finds many obstacles to its onward march. The past year has not been without its struggles and vexatious impediments even among the schools of this town.

In all good and worthy objects, where a number of persons are alike interested, it makes quite a difference whether all put shoulder to the wheel, and work in unison, or a part oppose to the rest. No teacher can work as successfully against prejudice and mistrust as when the atmosphere is clear, and interest and helpfulness is visible on every face she meets. How shall we bring our common schools to the highest possible standard? There is but one way. When every individual realizes their personal obligation in the matter, and meets it, then the standard will be reached.

The children of our town are easily governed when not excited by home munity. We have long held an opinion, and it is strengthened year by year, that the factor in the progress and success of our common schools, is paternal authority, not tyrannical but decided enough for children to understand.

We would recommend that every parent in the town subject themselves to a wholesome self-examination in order that they may learn the path of duty, for

“The path of duty is the path of right.”

Six terms of school, three in summer and three in winter have been sustained, in all eighteen weeks, at an average cost of six dollars per week, including board.

Teachers employed: Mary E. Colman, Mary E. Robinson, Edith A. Lucas and Anstriss Fellows.

Amount expended for each scholar, $6.72.

Respectfully submitted for the year 1893.

ARTHUR L. SCEGCEL,
CHARLES COLMAN,
STEPHEN H. HUTCHINS.
